Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2010. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This is a non-fiction work regarding real-word domestic espionage in the US, the majority of which appears to be illegal. This work discusses how to detect police spies, in the flesh, in their vehicles and how to observe their tactics, as well as a historical perspective on the use of spies. It is also very critical of community policing groups like Cellular On Patrol and the alumni of the FBI s National Citizens Academy, who practice harassment tactics against American citizens, sometimes to the point where their victims commit suicide. The goals of these terrorist harassment tactics is not to disrupt criminal behavior or even public disorder, but to disrupt activities of daily living, such as going to work or to the gym and life processes, such as eating and sleeping. This is essentially a slow execution and leaves no traces of evidence. I can guarantee you that every police agency, that has a covert apparatus large enough to carry this out, uses these tactics on whoever they choose to target. While this can be done anywhere, the big cities are much more likely places for this to be carried on. This creepy expose contains lots of photography taken by myself at great personal risk and often cost. It should be an informative and thrilling read for those interested, not only in the spy genre, but in the preservation of civil and human rights. Under the shroud of Community Policing the US has been transformed into a totalitarian Police State without a vote and without warning. We now live in a society saturated with police spies. This makes us all prisoners and the prisoner s dilemma the only game in...
