After watching her parents battle for her entire childhood, Kelly wants an uncomplicated, easy going guy. When she meets Nick and the sparks fly, she's almost relieved to find out he's in a relationship. Nick's girlfriend introduces her to Matt, Nick's best friend and their romance begins. The fact that Kelly doesn't feel the attraction she felt for Nick is a good thing, right? Kelly's best friend Angie works with the mentally challenged, her mother is a manic depressive, and her father an alcoholic. Angie doesn't have time for Jay, but it looks as if she may have to make some. Kelly's nephew Sam, her Uncle Mike and her sister Peggy all contribute to make Kelly's life entertaining. This book is a humorous, light read that will make you laugh. Meg Franco was born and continues to live in West Nyack, New York. Some of fictional Sam's antics were based on her twelve year old son, Sam's, real life exploits. Meg graduated from Saint Thomas Aquinas College and spent twenty years in the family business, Ekizians Tuxedos before deciding on a career change. She is currently employed by Jesse Kaplan working with Autistic children. This is her first published book. This item ships from multiple locations.
