Excerpt from A Sermon, Delivered Before the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of Pennsylvania: Held in St. James s Church, Philadelphia, May 3, 1815; And Published by Request You should be excited to zeal and industry in your holy vocation, in the next place, from considering the inveterate and mischievous libertinism of the age. The tares of unbelief, unhappily for mankind, were sown in England, and on the continent of Europe, along with the good seeds of the reformation - It was the natural progress of the human mind to make this transition from the extreme of superstition, of a foul and abominable superstition, to that of infidelity. It was not to be wondered at, if when mankind had once thrown off the shackles of papal dominion, and the thunders of the Vatican ceased to drown the voice of enquiry, they felt some reluctance at such a season, to submit to the whole some control even of the genuine doctrines of the faith.
