Want is poor. Want wants more. More hard times in tough places, Constant is the Rain is a new collection of recession era poems and stories. Nationally acclaimed author Rex Sexton is the recipient of The Eric Hoffer Editor s Choice Award for Prose, Best New Writing 2007 for Holy Night. Editorial Reviews Review Relentless pessimism about the state of the nation infuses Sexton s . accomplished poetry and short fiction . The title piece, about hard life and untimely death in the ghetto, introduces the book s dark atmosphere: Being and begetting, struggling and/ enduring . as gunfire crackles and sirens wail/ and her fate is sealed with coffin nails. Sexton s characters - Nowhere Men as much as Everymen - are war veterans, hobos, sex workers, and blue-collar employees facing job losses . His settings are urban wastelands. In The Penworn Papers an impoverished artist recalls his degenerate life . in The Gift, a Jewish satire redolent of Shalom Auslander, a young man reverts to emptiness in his old age ....
