Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Compound, Comminuted and Complicated Fracture of the Upper End of the Tibia It has been remarked, that he who makes two blades of grass to grow, where there was but one before, is a real benefactor of mankind. It is upon the proposition, that every additional fact in support of a principle, contributes to augment the sum total of human knowledge, that we venture to present for the consideration of the society, a brief history of an interesting case of compound, comminuted and complicated fracture of the upper end of the tibia. We shall not pretend to suggest anything new in our case, either as to history, cause, pathology, treatment or result. Our aim will be to direct the attention of the profession to the pro per investigation of those means of knowledge, by which we may act with a full appreciation of the immense responsibilities attached to the practical duties of surgery.
