Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Fill your Easter season with challenging, inspirational, and hope-filled thoughts about God and his gift of bodily and earthly stewardship in this Lenten devotional by author and pastor Kevin Tully. This forty-day devotional guide comprises a combination of life experiences, self-reflections, and open-ended questions the author gleaned while either exercising or engaging in a seemingly mundane-yet God-inspired-task: picking up trash. The two resulting themes-care for our bodies and care for our planet-shine through in these daily devotions. Tully s ruminations are eminently relevant in today s culture, one in which people of all walks of life are beginning to take ownership of the God-honoring responsibility of stewardship. For Christians, caring for the earth stems from an innate respect for God s creation and his sense of order. This is especially pertinent during Lent, and anyone looking for a fresh take on this traditional period of renewal and reflection will be both encouraged and stimulated by each -thought for today.- Buttressed by scripture and real-life stories, these devotions will indeed help you clear out the trash from your own life and work harder to make your world brighter and more beautiful.
