They were living on a little mountain farm, and reared fourteen children--eleven sons and three daughters. One of these sons is a minister in the Baptist Church. Two others are ministers in the Methodist Church, and belong to the Southwest Missouri Conference. While there were many seemingly insurmountable difficulties besetting him, he had a great thirst for knowledge, and applied himself as well as he could, having to work to help support the family, and only able to attend the public schools a few months in the winter. Without the privilege of theological training, acquiring knowledge was made rather difficult, yet he struggled on amid all these disadvantages, preparing himself for his life's work. Brother Pike was a man of deep piety; naturally very diffident, he did not show his real worth. One had to be intimately acquainted with him to know his true value. To live right, and to do good, was his great desire while laboring with us. He was licensed a local preacher by the Quarterly Conference of Patrick circuit in 1889, and was employed by the Presiding Elder during a part of that year, to preach in the northwestern part of Patrick county. In November of that year, he was admitted on trial into the Virginia Conference, held in the city of Richmond, and sent to West Chesterfield mission. In 1890, he was sent to West Franklin mission, where he remained two years; from there to Meadows of Dan...
