DOE oversees the treatment and disposal of about 90 million gallons of radioactive waste from the nation s nuclear weapons program. Most of this waste is stored in tanks at DOE sites in Hanford, Washington, and Savannah River, South Carolina. The less radioactive portion of the tank waste, called LAW, comprises more than 90 percent of the waste s volume but less than 10 percent of the total radioactivity. DOE has chosen different approaches for treating LAW at the two sites, but it has not made a final decision on how to treat Hanford s supplemental LAW. GAO examined (1) DOE s reasons for choosing its treatment approaches for LAW at the Savannah River and Hanford Sites, (2) the status of DOE s treatment of LAW at these sites, and (3) experts views on the likely performance of approaches for treating Hanford s LAW. GAO reviewed technical reports on DOE s waste treatment strategies at the two sites, interviewed DOE officials at headquarters and the sites, and convened an experts meeting through the National Academies to discuss the effectiveness and risks of vitrification and grout.
