The territory now comprising this interior and obscure town having been comprehended within the limits of two adjacent towns, its history must necessarily be blended with that of the towns from which it was taken, and the labor and difficulty of obtaining correct information of its first settlement be thereby increased, especially as the early records of one of these towns are not to be found. Add to these the extreme uncertainty of traditionary accounts obtained from the aged inhabitants, and you will have some idea, my fellow-townsmen, of the task I have undertaken, in endeavouring to rescue from oblivion the history of our fathers, or rather that small portion of it which has not already been borne down the current of time into the ocean of forgetfulness. But considering it a debt of gratitude due to the memory of those who first felled the trees on which now wave our fields of grain, to transmit their names and story to their descendants, and having spent some time in procuring the few materials that were accessible, and being also encouraged by friends, I commit the following account, with all its imperfections on its head, to the candor of my townsmen; trusting...
