

Larb Quarterly Journal Winter 2014: 2014

By Tom Lutz

Los Angeles Review of Books. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Larb Quarterly Journal Winter 2014: 2014, Tom Lutz, The Los Angeles Review of Books launched in April of 2011 as a humble Tumblr, with a 2600-word essay by Ben Ehrenreich entitled "The Death of the Book." The gesture was meant to be provocative, and to ask a genuine question: Was the book dying? Was the internet killing it? Or were we simply entering a new era, a new publishing ecosystem, where different media could coexist? The LARB website currently publishes a minimum of two rigorously edited pieces a day, and we've cultivated a stable of regular contributors, both eminent (Jane Smiley, Mike Davis, Jonathan Lethem) and emerging (Jenny Hendrix, Colin Dickey, Rachel Kaadzi Ghansah). We've found our way to a certain tone that readers expect and enjoy: looser and more eclectic than our namesakes the New York and London Review of Books, grounded in literature but open to all varieties of cultural experience, far from the New York publishing hothouse atmosphere but not myopically focused on L.A. either. The new LARB print quarterly builds on the best aspects of our flagship online magazine. The long form literary and cultural...

These kinds of ebooks are almost everything and got me to searching forward and a lot more. It usually does not price excessive. It's been written in an exceedingly basic way and is particularly only following I finished reading through this pdf through which in fact modified me, alter the way I really believe.
