My God, my God! dost thou care for me? Thou dost care for the poor and struggling soul. Thou knowest how hard the conflict is with those that are, by sickness and poverty, and ten thousand grating influences of life, made wretched. Thou art sorry for them, and thou art sending them sweet angelic influences; and if they will, thou wilt carry them through the desert, and they shall even see the promised land. Great is the power of thy grace over against our weakness and want. Grant unto them the vision of a God so merciful that all their wants shall seem to be supplied before they mention them. Thou knowest the inmost thought, thou knowest what we know not, --the remotest necessities, --of our souls; and what can be better for us than to rest with unspoken requisitions before the God who created us, who knows us, who loves us, who gave himself for us? So may we be able, day by day, to live in sweet contentment, and rest in thee. We questioned thee, questioned the wisdom of all thy ways. And we so disturbed ourselves, and disquieted our spirits within us, that we had no more in God, but walked in the solitude of our own orphanage. Then, O God! thou hast had mercy upon us; and we have been as children that wandered in the darkness, in the woods, and alone. And we have been found of...
