Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Sermon: Preached in St. Jude s Church, Philadelphia, on Sunday Morning, Sept, 7, 1862 Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and slant thy doors About thee: hide thyself as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be overpast. For, behold, the Lord eometh out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain. Such are the terms in which the Lord of Hosts summons his redeemed people to the safe covert of his mighty care. They indicate a wide-spread and crushing calamity. There is a speciality in the prophetic vision that seems to link its utterances with those fearful events which St. John describes as marking the end of the present dispensation, and the incoming of that blessed era when Jesus shall take to himself his mighty power and reign in Mount Zion, and before his ancients gloriously. But the people of God are one. In every age and land they hold the same relation to him and his purposes. His love, his protecting care, his glorious design is ever one. And, therefore, the general principles on which he administers his government are always the same; and the proffers and promises which he makes to the Church of one generation belong to all the rest.
