Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In today's world, loneliness is a very common problem that most people face, and that's very likely the reason why so many social networks are rapidly becoming popular. This book presents an uncommon and unknown truth about why people feel lonely. The theory here described won't ever be shared by psychologists or psychiatrists, because it's not about mainstream science, but something else, opposing it. In fact, if scientists and pharmaceuticals in the field of mental health were honest, they would acknowledge the facts presented here, even though it could cause people to stop paying them the huge sums of money that they get every year. There's something wrong with this planet, not you, but you'll need to read this book to realize it, and truly know why you feel lonely.
