Excerpt from Harvard University, Class of 1868: Secretary s Report, No. 3, 1876 The property received was the Class Book, a large, finely bound volume, containing in his own handwriting a sketch of each graduate s life; the files of letters in answer to inquiries for Reports; certain pamphlets and papers; and the sum of invested in a mortgage of on some mill property at Holbrook, Suffolk Co., Long Island, all in the name of our former Secretary. That part of this mortgage, namely the $694 68, which was the property of the Class, I had assigned to me as Secretary of the Class of 1868, of Harvard Uni versity. The instrument bears date July 10, 1875, and is recorded in Suffolk County, L. Libro 124, folio 8. A suit to foreclose this mortgage was pending at the time of the assignment, and is not yet determined. With this exception the Treasury was empty but I am happy to report the receipt of over since the last Commencement, the funds being deposited in the Boston Five Cents savings-bank, and drawing interest at five...
