Beppo: A Venetian Story is a lengthy poem by Lord Byron, written in Venice in 1817. Beppo marks Byron s first attempt at writing using the Italian ottava rima metre, which emphasized satiric digression. It is the precursor to Byron s most famous and generally considered best poem, Don Juan. The poem tells the story of a Venetian lady, Laura, whose husband, Giuseppe (or Beppo for short), has been lost at sea for the past three years. According to Venetian customs she takes on a Cavalier Servente, simply called the Count. When the two of them attend the Venetian Carnival, she is closely observed by a Turk who turns out to be her missing husband. Beppo explains that he has been captured and enslaved, and was freed by a band of pirates that he subsequently joined. Having accumulated enough money he left piracy and returned to reclaim his wife and be re-baptized. Laura rejoins Beppe and befriends the Count.
