

Early Modern Women and Transnational Communities of Letters Women and Gender in the Early Modern World

By Anne R. Larsen

Ashgate. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Hardcover. 350 pages. Dimensions: 9.2in. x 6.1in. x 1.3in. An important contribution to growing scholarship on womens participation in literary cultures, this essay collection concentrates on cross-national communities of letters to offer a comparative and international approach to early modern womens writing. The essays gathered here focus on multiple literatures from several countries, ranging from Italy and France to the Low Countries and England. Individual essays investigate women in diverse social classes and life stages, ranging from siblings and mothers to nuns to celebrated writers; the collection overall is invested in crossing geographic, linguistic, political, and religious borders and exploring familial, political, and religious communities. Taken together, these essays offer fresh ways of reading early modern womens writing that consider such issues as the changing cultural geographies of the early modern world, womens bilingualism and multilingualism, and womens sense of identity mediated by local, regional, national, and transnational affiliations and conflicts. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Hardcover.
