It is a political necessity. It will make my friend Arthur president, and save the republic. . I leave my justification to God and the American people. - Charles Guiteau In 1880, Civil War veteran James Garfield was running as a Republican for president, and one of his supporters was a man named Charles Guiteau, who wrote and circulated a speech called Garfield vs. Hancock that aimed to rally support for the Republican candidate. Though few knew it, Guiteau s family had already deemed him insane and attempted to keep him committed in an asylum, only to have him manage an escape from confinement. Garfield went on to narrowly edge Winfield Scott Hancock in the election, and Guiteau, harboring delusions of grandeur, believed he had helped tip the scales in Garfield s favor. As such, he believed that he was entitled to a post in Garfield s nascent administration, perhaps even...
