Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. We stand at a crossroads between the American Dream and American Reality. In the transition are the lives of many veterans who have served well and are entitled to the best that we have to offer. What we have to offer veterans is the best that our society has endorsed through the professionals in various accrediting or oversight organizations. All this is appropriate according to the standards that we have set as operating criteria for the professionals. What is not allowed for in our current system is the societal shifts of emotionality and the lack of support systems to deal with the effects of behaviors and traumas that we are all ill-equipped to deal with. I believe that a blending of Spiritual Energy Therapies can round out the edges to the existing criteria so that all veterans, citizens and practitioners can enjoy a new integrated system.
