Excerpt: .of fine material for filling the voids; but for concrete pavement this fine material is not necessary and is liable to be detrimental. With reference to the strength, the joint committee on concrete and reinforced concrete in the last report requires 100 per cent sand or else, if it tests lower than this, that it shall have a larger percentage of cement with a limit of 70 per cent as the ratio between bank sand and the standard sand. For large construction we might frequently use sand somewhere between the limits of 100 per cent and 70 per cent; but for pavements, where the question of wear is under consideration, it is necessary to get a high standard if we wish to have good results. REPORT OF COMMITTEE IV PREPARATION AND TREATMENT OF SUB-GRADE FOR CONCRETE ROADS Chairman--Ira O. Baker Professor of Civil Engineering, University...
