Excerpt from Tales of the Tepee These stories have been gathered on the plains and among the hills of Oklahoma. That state is peculiarly the home of the red men. More than one-third of all the Indians in the United States live within its limits. They include remnants of more than fifty tribes, varying widely in customs and in civilization. Some are well educated and wealthy and live in beautiful homes. Others are ignorant and poor and dwell in cabins or in tepees and grass houses.
