He traced his descent directly from Roger Williams of Rhode Island, through his daughter, and from Thomas Angell, one of the Crown Commissioners for the settlement of Rhode Island. His preparatory school work was done in the common schools of Forestville and at Adelbert Academy in Belleville, Ontario, and he entered Harvard in 1869, graduating with high honors in the Class of 1873. He then began a business career in the oil fields of Western Pennsylvania with his father who had been a large and influential operator there for many years, but soon tiring of this entered Harvard Law School in November 1873, and supporting himself by tutoring, principally in mathematics, graduated with the usual degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1875. Entering the law office of General T. W. Sanderson of Youngstown, Ohio, he was soon after admitted to the Bar, and in 1877 came to Cleveland and quickly became known for his thorough legal training and general abilities. In 1884 he formed a law partnership with J. H. Webster of that city, with whom he continued until his death, the firm being first known as Webster Angell and afterwards as Webster, Angell Cook. In 1893, at the request of many of the leading citizens of the city and northern Ohio, Mr. Angell was chosen by the Governor, now...
