Excerpt: . . . legislative quality and set specific monitoring goals, indicators are the types of information used to answer each monitoring question, and measures are the numeric values that are measured or derived to quantify the indicator. This hierarchical approach logically links key indicators and measures to wilderness character. 2. 3 Scope and Limitations of This National Monitoring The idea of wilderness character is too complex and place-dependent to develop a national monitoring protocol for the entire set of meanings and relationships embodied by this concept. For example, there are important emotional, spiritual, and intangible aspects of wilderness character (reviewed by Putney and Harmon 2003) that form a Key Points uniquebasis for the relationships that people The scope of this Framework is have with wilderness landscapes (Watson limited by . . . 2004). This monitoring does not monitor Using the legislative definition these aspects or relationships, or reduce of wilderness to identify wilderness to data. Instead, for the overall qualities of wilderness and its purposeof this monitoring to improve stewardship that are linked to ardship that meets the intent of the Wilder-wilderness character. ness Act, the scope of this Framework is Focusing on selected conditions and stewardship narrowed to (1) legislatively defined quali-actions that are linked to these ties of wilderness, (2) selected conditions legislatively defined qualities. andstewardship actions that influence these Identifying indicators of these legislatively defined qualities of wilder-conditions and actions that, ness, and (3) a set of indicators related to based on best professional...
