Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from With the 351st in France: A Diary Passing in review, and some for the last time, while thousands of mothers, wives, sweethearts and dear friends looked on, the 351st, with muffled martial tread, swung through the estwhile Company streets of the 368th Infantry, up the sandy hill, past the bandstand and into the waiting cars. A mass of gushing black smoke, a creaking, grinding strain of engine wheels and amid a multitude of waving, tear-stained hankerchiefs, the waving of a thousand hats and hands of as many different styles and hues, our double-header pulled out. As the white tops of the solid mass of barracks faded away behind the towering pines, we waved farewell to old Camp Meade and to one lone guard who walked his post on the outskirts of the camp. Now as the train came to a slow-down at the great Philadelphia station (B. O.) the gates flew open and in surged another multitude of relatives and friends to say their last good-bye. Here the ladies of the Red Cross served us to...
