Book One ends on page 375. Book Two picks up with Chapter 21 and ends on page 813. Authored by Korean War expert, Roy Appleman, an introduction from his Forward . . . Since it was only from survivors of the early battles in Korea that one could hope to reconstruct the narrative of the first months of the conflict, the writer undertook to get their story. When he arrived in Korea in early July 1951, on active duty with the Army, he had orders from Maj. Gen. Orlando Ward, then Chief of Military History, to study the terrain of the action and to interview as many participants, of all ranks, as he could find. He began then a process continued almost to the hour that this manuscript went to press. He talked with hundreds of soldiers, from privates to threeand four-star generals, about particular actions and decisions affecting the action of which each had personal knowledge in some degree. One interview would result in leads to...
