The following women are recorded among others as nursing two children: Mary McM., on nutrolactis six weeks. Frances McM., aged eight months, her own child, during the above time gained twelve ounces. John S., (nurse child), aged eight months, gained two pounds twelve ounces. Mary D., on nutrolactis eight weeks. John D., aged ten months, her own child, gained one pound eight ounces. Howard B., aged six months (nurse child), gained one pound and a half. We have had several women whose supply of milk was insufficient, but after taking nutrolactis they have been able to nurse two children. The women who take it all say that it positively adds to their flow of milk. As it is not particularly agreeable to take, containing little alcohol, I believe that their praise of it is not due to bias on account of palatability, and as the facts in our tests seem to bear them out, I believe their statements. The class of mothers and children which come under our care is one to which such a medicine is peculiary valuable, and after a year s use I am much pleased with the results. We are now using about a dozen bottles a week. The dose is a tablespoonful two or three times daily. I hope that its use will be of benefit in the hands of some of my brethren who may be tempted to try it from what I have said about it.--Robert...
