Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Subsidence Resulting From Mining The subject of the subsidence of the earth s crust as a result of underground excavation due to mining has attracted Widespread attention for some years past, but particularly during recent years. With the extension of mining and the increased value of the surface above the mines in many localities, the growth of towns in mining regions, and the extension of railroads over mining properties, the subject is one that will be of increasing interest as time goes on, not alone to those engaged in mining coal and ores, but to the railroads, municipalities, and other owners and users of the surface that may be affected by mining operations. That the subject is not one of mere local interest is shown by the widespread distribution of surface subsidence as described in the following pages. This bulletin has been prepared not with a View of bringing forward any new theories in regard to the subject, but it is in the nature of a reconnoissance and a statement of present knowledge of the subject, based upon the literature available up to the present time. It and a companion preliminary Cooperation bulletin on subsidence in Illinois by Dr. Young, which will be issued by the Illinois Geological Survey, are intended as studies upon which to base a detailed cooperative investigation of Subsidence conditions in Illinois.
