AuthorsTranslated ByLady Charlotte GuestThe Mabinogion is the earliest prose literature of Britain. The stories were compiled in the 12th and 13th century from earlier oral traditions by medieval Welsh authors. The two main source manuscripts were created c. 1350 and 1410, as well as some earlier fragments. But beyond their origins, first and foremost these are fine quality storytelling, offering high drama, philosophy, romance, tragedy, fantasy, sensitivity, and humour; refined through long development by skilled performers.Whilst engaged on the Translations contained in these volumes, and on the Notes appended to the various Tales, I have found myself led unavoidably into a much more extensive course of reading than I had originally contemplated, and one which in great measure bears directly upon the earlier MediAEval Romance.Before commencing these labours, I was aware, generally, that there existed a connexion between the Welsh Mabinogion and the Romance of the Continent; but as I advanced, I became better acquainted with the closeness and extent of that connexion, its history, and the proofs by which it is supported.At the same time, indeed,...
