Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Social Teachings of the Jewish Prophets: A Study in Biblical Sociology This study also frankly assumes that the social message of the Jewish prophet was intended for his own times. Each had in mind a real and present situation. This fact limits the application of the prophet's social message in two ways. In the first place, the social program of the prophets does not include the social problems that have grown out of new conditions that did not exist in their time. In the second place, there were, in the days of the prophets, acute social problems to which they directed their attention and which have either found solution, or changing conditions have made unimportant. On the other hand, there were incipient social situations, like slavery, which were later to grow into serious problems that baffled the reformers of many generations, but which received scanty attention at the hands of the prophets. It is hardly necessary to say that the author does not claim great originality for the views expressed in this book. The footnotes and list...
