Altogether prospects for the fall season are about as good as could be asked, especially in view of the comparative dullness which marked the latter part of the summer. W. W. Coney, of the Moores-Coney Co., expresses himself recently as being very much pleased with business so far this year, even August, which was on the whole not an active month, being a good one with this company. A sale of 75,000 barrels of Lehigh cement, for use in the foundations of the new million-dollar powerhouse of the Union Gas Electric Co., was made recently by the company, being one of the largest of the season. The other material contracts for the structure are still to be let. Walter Pursell, president of the Pursell-Grand Co., reports a good increase in business as compared with August, with plenty of small jobs and...
