

The Role of Civilian Police in Peacekeeping: 1999-2007

By Garth den Heyer, Dr Garth Den Heyer

Police Foundation, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 279 x 216 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Despite the extensive amount of literature that has examined the role of the military in peacekeeping and intervention operations, there is little literature or information available that investigates the role and the work of the civilian police, or the methods they use to assist in the reformation of local police. While the inclusion of police in peacekeeping missions is an accepted mantra by both academia and practitioners, the role of police in peacekeeping missions is not well understood by policy and decision makers. Civilian police were first deployed by the United Nations more than 50 years ago. After a lull of approximately two decades, the number of civilian police on peacekeeping operations increased from 1,677 officers in 1994 to more than 10,000 officers in 2009. The role of civilian police has continued to broaden from one of monitoring general elections and providing training and basic security to one of patrolling and developing local police capacity. Police reform is acknowledged as a crucial element when establishing a sense of security and when developing a post-conflict nation. While the...
