Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Aims and Operation of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario: An Address in Connection With the New by-Laws of the Institute The grouping of incongruous items, the consolidation of assets bearing different proportionate values, and the insertion of balances of diverse accounts, instead of the clear statement of the debits and credits, are designed for the purpose of preventing their constituents, their shareholders, their rivals and the public from all knowledge of the real working of their institutions, and yet we, day by day, see these reports, so prepared, vouched for by persons who subscribe themselves as auditors and accountants, to the infinite disgust of those who believe the duties of an auditor to be of more consequence than his fees. The theory of accounting and auditing is the faithful record and the plain exposition of facts. The theory of the management of too many public companies is that the shareholders and directors should place implicit Confidence in their manager, and that they should not in any manner question or interfere in his views and instructions; consequently it is too often the case that an auditor is selected who will carefully refrain from criticism of methods of accounts which the book-keeper or accountant has followed solely in compliance with instructions, although against his conscience and better knowledge. In most of our municipalities the auditing is of the most perfunctory and delusive description even. When it happens that the auditors are competent, as is seldom the case, they are painfully aware of the fact that the treasurer does not keep proper books of account, or does not keep his accounts distinct from each other,...
