

I have felt a deep impression to share my story. I'm not sure why really. It is one of the hardest things I have ever attempted, and, because of that, have continually put it off. I don't want to do anything that would appear I was elevating myself or my experiences. All of us who recognize the authority of God upon our lives, and choose to live under it, have experiences worth sharing. They are like pathways that help to lead others safely across the pitfalls of life. In this way, our lives are like bridges, and, when we share them and the things that God has taught us through them, we are like bridge builders. I don't think for one minute that my life's story is more important than anyone else's, for I know I am no one. Yet, in some ways, I am everyone, and so are you.

The Greater Gift is a refreshing reminder that our spiritual journey is defined by experiences, some of which we may not fully understand or appreciate until much later in life. This book celebrates the experiences and provides a soothing undertone that God loves each of His children despite our imperfections. A perfect read for new believers. A gift to all who read!

Jennifer shares her spiritual journey in this small book. As a wife, mother, active member, cancer survivor, and business leader she shares her experience through many lenses. You will be blessed reading her thoughts.

—Dr Lyndell P. Worthen, Jr

Jennifer takes you on a fascinating narrative journey through her life — the ordinary and the extraordinary — and the way she applies it and lets it help you see more deeply and live more intentionally into your own journey.
