The President: The statistical tables which accompany this report will readily disclose to students of industrial questions (those who wish to know rather than to speculate) the wisdom of the laws heretofore enacted by Congress providing for the composition of labor controversies that affect rail transportation and, equally so, the successful administration of these laws. The tables are presented in rather elaborate detail at this time, although somewhat repetitive of former reports, because (a) there never before has been compiled in connected form a verified list of all the controversies involving labor disputes between carriers engaged in interstate commerce and their employees in train operation, in which the services of agencies, acting under congressional authority, have been employed to assist in bringing about adjustments; (b) the desire of correspondents in all parts of the country for the definite information which such tables can...
