Reviews

The publication is great and fantastic. It can be filled with knowledge and wisdom You wont truly feel monotony at at any moment of your time (that's what catalogues are for about if you ask me).

Poor old Nannie, as she went the round of families of her acquaintance bidding them good-by, wept and said she had rather die than go there. And she did indeed die in a very short time. Eleanor, who had grown strong enough to earn her board, remained behind living with one of the neighbors for many years, but at length she, too, went away, and the poor are no longer with us. A ROBIN. By C. C. Lord. It is the dreary March. The wind Is brisk and froze. The snows still bind The scene. Yet chirps a robin kind. Up from the South he flits with speed, The prospect harsh he doth not heed, For earth s delight, time s gladful meed. The blosmy land he quits for chill--The crocus and the daffodil--Where perfumes all the landscape fill. Perched on a branch beyond the pane, For winter s loss and spring s bright gain, Cheer up! cheer up! he pipes amain. Thanks! little friend. Thy song is heard, Assurance of the hour is stirred, The world hath comfort of a bird. Man hath a boast. His soul will dare A life for love. Yet he, for care, Ranks not a songster of the air. There is a tenderness in things, Or high, or low, and on the wings Of promise oft a warbler sings. Hail! happy...
