Excerpt: .the master, and the courts would compel compensation. In those days a full, practical knowledge of a trade was deemed necessary to a proper assumption of the title of mechanic, whether it was to a shoemaker, carpenter, or painter; and the graduated apprentice went forth as a journeyman to complete his title by practice, and to secure his claim in time to the dignity of master of the art. Then people thought they had made a good investment if they paid an appointed sum to place their sons in such an apprenticeship. The demand for a premium for receiving apprentices ceased long since in this country, and lately there began to cease that peculiar relation between master and apprentice which, if not that of parental on the side of the master, and filial on the part of the apprentice, was at least quite equal to...
