It was one kind of gall fly that made the little brown house that the children found among their nuts when they came home; but this kind is not the ink-making fly. Shellac. There are several kinds of gall flies that pierce a hole in the leaf of the black oak, and in this they lay an egg. Their sharp sting causes the leaf to swell, and all the sap in the leaf flows toward that part; so when the larval baby is hatched out it has plenty of rich sap to feed upon. After a time it makes a cocoon for itself, and becomes a pupa, or real baby fly. When its baby days are ended it creeps out of its soft blanket, makes...
