Reunissent dans un espace limite les plantes des di verses regions du globe dont le climat est analogue a celui du jar din lui-meme, le botaniste les range methodiquement en genres, en familles, en ordres et en classes. L ensemble de ces vegetaux ainsi coordonnees constitue ce que l on nomme une ecole botanique. Toutes ces plantes neanmoins ne pouvant pas rester sans abri pen dant la saison froide, on rentre aux premieres gelees dans une orangerc e bien close les vegetaux qui ne sauraient resister aux ri gueurs de l hiver. La serre temperee contient les plantes qui, pour developper leurs ?eurs et murir leurs fruits, reclament un froid tres mitige pendant l hiver et pendant l ete une somme de chaleur superieure a celle qu ils recevraient en plein air. Des appareils de chauffage permettent d y maintenir toujours une temperature su perieure de plusieurs degres a celle de zero, meme lorsque le ther mometre exterieur descend au - dessous du point de congelation de l eau. La serre chaude, constamment chauffee sauf durant les grandes chaleurs de l ete, renferme les plantes tropicales. Des serres speciales sont consacrees aux fougères robustes de la Nou velle - Zelande, a celles plus delicates de l amerique meridionale.
