Ave Maria Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 228 pages. Dimensions: 9.9in. x 7.0in. x 0.6in. The Samaritan woman, Martha, Julian of Norwich—if these women could speak to us today, what would they say About their lives, about their faith . . . and about ours Gloria Ulterino brings to life these and many other women of faith in this extraordinary collection of communal celebrations. Firmly rooted in contemporary scholarship, set in the context of prayer and reflection, and charged with the energy of the authors imaginative gifts, these celebrations involve us in the stories, the struggles, the hopes, and the deepest convictions of these amazing women of scripture and history. Each of the thirteen prayer services is accompanied by an intriguing background study that situates the lives of these women—named and unnamed—in their own time and place. The celebrations faithfully portray each one and draw out the connections to the experience and concerns of contemporary women of faith. The rituals gently lead participants to pray with their own struggles with faith and the church, and to discover the constant presence of holy Wisdom in it all. Ideal for small faith sharing groups, retreat settings, and larger communal settings, Drawing from Wisdoms Well brings a sense of solidarity and hope to contemporary women on a journey of faith. Reviews In this richly imagined new work, Gloria Ulterino introduces us to a communion of extraordinary women of deep faith. With helpful biographical sketches, provocative reflections and creative new forms of prayer, we are invited to accompany these courageous women as they worship and give praise to God. leader of Women of the Well storytelling group in Rochester, NY. -- James Martin, S.
