In Bivouac Near Thk North Anna Kiver, Va., May 24, 1864. Dear Mrs.: My last letter (a copy of which I will send you, along with the others I have written from the field to my several correspondents, when I return to Washton) gave an account of the way in which I assisted, as the Trench would say, at the fight between the forces of General Warren of the 5th corps with the help of part of the 6th, and the rebel General Hill, on the evening of yesterday, the 23d inst. After our day-break breakfast the next morning I made my way to the hospitals, which had been established while the engagement was going on, in an open grassy space interspersed with bushes and young trees, and skirting the road which crossed the North Anna River about a mile and...
