Saqi Books. Paperback. Condition: New. 405 pages. Dimensions: 9.1in. x 6.0in. x 1.3in. An Imam in Paris lets us share the responses of a highly intelligent scholar . . . Daniel L. Newman is to be congratulated on making the first translation into English of this remarkable book, and on supporting the text with a first-class introduction and with footnotes that are as full as one could wish. Times Literary Supplement A touchstone for thinking about the tangled relations between Islam and modernity . . . the most amazing and entertaining curiosity. Matthew J. Reisz, Jewish Quarterly In the 1820s, Rifa'a Rafi al-Tahtawi, a young Muslim cleric, travelled to Paris as a leading member of the first Egyptian educational mission, where, during a stay of five years, he documented his observations on European culture. His account, Takhlis al-Ibriz fi Talkhis Bariz (The Quintessence of Paris), is one of the earliest and most influential records of the Muslim encounter with Enlightenment-eras European ideas, introducing ideas of modernity to his native land. Al-Tahtawi's work offers invaluable insight into early conceptions of Europe and the Other. His observations are as vibrant and palpable today as they were over one hundred and fifty years ago; informative and often acute, to very humorous effect. An irrefutable classic, this new edition of the first English translation is of seminal value. It is introduced and carefully annotated by a scholar fluent in the life, times, and milieu of its narrator. Daniel L. Newman is professor of Arabic and course director of the masters program in Arabic-English Translation and Interpreting at the University of Durham. His other works include Modern Arabic Short Stories: A Bilingual Reader (with Ronak Husni, Saqi Books, 2008). This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
