BLOODAXE BOOKS LTD, United Kingdom, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. The Wound Register, or Casualty Book - which gives this book its title - is an official record of the casualty and sickness details for more than fifteen thousand soldiers of the Norfolk Regiment during the First World War. Written during the conflict s centenary, the poems in Esther Morgan s fourth collection apply the concept to her own family history in the aftermath of her great grandfather s death at the Somme. An unflinching sequence written to her grandmother explores the trauma of losing a father in combat, while other poems address the missing soldier directly as he hovers on the brink of living memory. Morgan s experience of coming late to motherhood brings the book into the present, giving her alertness to loss a fresh urgency as she traces the legacy of three generations. Written with the lyrical precision of her earlier work but with a new intimacy, The Wound Register grapples movingly with the question of whether it s possible to live and love while doing no harm.
