Personally I have, for better or for worse, succeeded in surviving the nineteenth century without falling a victim to the fashionable cacoethes; and if, after thirty-five years of dalliance with Chinese books, I at last yield to the tempter, I may at least be permitted to plead in palliation that I only commit in my approaching dotage that rash act which others have perpetrated in the heyday of their youth and fame. As the sole authorities upon Taoism, and upon Lao-tsz, its prophet, are in the most absolute sense the Chinese themselves, it is plain that I am not committing an indiscretion when in the first instance I totally ignore all that foreigners have written upon the subject, and proceed to state what I conceive the original evidence to be.
