Not illustrated. 1840 Excerpt: .Printing-Office during the last year, with the exception of a short period, was seven. About the same number have been in the book-bindery. It should be mentioned, however, that three of the printers are at the same time pupils of the High school, so that their services are available only to a limited extent. A fourth has been employed several months in the year as a Panjabi Munshi to Mr. Newton. All the men in the office are still comparatively unskilful in their business. One is now in a course of special training to act as foreman; after which it may be expected that business will be conducted better, and the necessity of Mr. Morris continual presence at the station be greatly diminished. The wages of the printers vary from 6 to 15 rupees a month. The amount of printing executed during the year will be exhibited by the following table. The Schools under the care of the missionaries should be considered not merely as places of educational instruction, but as affording opportunities for daily making known the gospel. They are thus described in this Report: --The High School. Th-s school is taught by Mr. Rogers, assisted by Mr. Newton. During the absence of the latter at Subathu, his place was occupied by Mr. Morris. All the members of the first class serve as under-teachers, for which they receive a compensation, while the second class, without any remuneration, except a present on the day of examination...
