Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The University Gazette, Vol. 1: Devoted to the Interests of the University of Maryland, Baltimore, MD., July 1914 I have read that, when the Prince of Oranje, wishing to make some return to the people of Leyden for their heroic sufferings and losses during the siege of the city offered either to remit their taxes or to establish a university, the people showed their fine valor and wisdom by asking for a university. The people of the United States have chosen as nobly and bravely as the citizens of Leyden. With a liberality without parallel in history the rich men of this country have endowed universities in every part of this great country. Of late the governments of the States have also fallen the higher education in hand, as this has always been the case in Germany. There is nothing one can note with greater pleasure in this country than the continued advance of the American colleges and universities. The last thirty years have seen the establishment and development by the State Legislatures of a large number of state institutions of higher education, to which annually liberal grants of money are made. This witnesses to the enlightened wisdom and zeal of the state authorities, who rightly think that nothing better could be done for the youth of the state than to place before them the amplest facilities for prosecuting every kind of study. The appreciation of such facilities is shown by the large and constantly increasing attendance, not only at the universities and technical colleges supported by the States, but also at the universities of private foundation. The habit of sound, careful and independent thinking...
