He was a man of extreme neatness and sensibility, which traits still clung to him in the hour of death. His faith in the Gospel of Gods impartial grace grew stronger and stronger as the outward man failed. To a ministering brother, a few days before his death, he said: Tell my brethren for me that Universalism comprehends everything that is necessary in this hour; that the faith I have preached I would preach again more earnestly were my restoration probable. Again he said: If any one does not believe in the all-sustaining grace of Christ Jesus in the hour of trial and suffering, bring him to me, for I can testify to its power and truthfulness. XII.
