Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Interference Measurements of Wave Lengths in the Iron Spectrum, 3233a-6750a Seed 27 plates were used throughout, but to photograph the region 4900a to 6750a the plates were bathed in pinaverdol and dicyanin with ammonia. In the region 3200a to 4200a there were measured: Four exposures of 1; five of 6; one each of 15, 20, and 30; and two of 60 minutes duration. In the region 3500a to 4500a the exposures were: Five of 2; five of 5 two of 20; and three of 25 minutes. The region 4100a to 5100a was covered by exposures as follows: Three of 3; two of 5; one of 10; four of 15; one of 25; and four of 50 minutes. Finally, in the region 4900a to 6800a, the following exposures were measured: One of 1; two of 3; three of 5; three of 9; two of 15; three of 20; two of 90; and one each of 65, 80, and 100 minutes duration. The first three regions were photographed in the second order; 4900a to 6800a was taken in the first order. In almost every case two or more exposures were measured on the same plate. These exposures were made without disturbing the interferometer. In 3 cases out of 24 there was a change in the thickness of about one part in a million, and in a few other cases there was a barely perceptible change. These changes were probably due to a variation in the temperature, although the thermometer beside the interferometer registered no appreciable change. By allowing the light to fall upon the interferometer for half an hour before taking the plate this trouble could be avoided....
