Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Empire of the North, Northern Ontario: Letters Written by Rev. R. G. Macbeth The Hudson s Bay Company has been abused by a good many people as the Opponent Of settlement. These say that it was never in the interests Of that great fur - trading corporation to allow the country to be Opened up for colonization. Coloniza tion and fur-trading do not get along well together But there is another side to the question, and having known the Hudson s Bay Company since my boyhood, having visited its posts all the way across the continent, and having known its Officers in all sorts Of places, I think the other side should be presented. TO begin with, the Officers Of the company have always been, almost without exception, a remarkably intelligent and well-read body Of men. At their posts they had, at certain seasons Of the year, abundant time for reading, and many Of them took the best magazines and papers, .even though they could only receive them by occasional mail. I knew Of one man at a far northern post who took the London Times, and as the mail, or packet, as it was called, only reached him once a year, he got a year s supply at a time. Most people would have looked at the latest issue, but such was this man s desire to be well-informed, that he began at the number Of The Thunderer farthest back and read clear through to the latest. When men like him came to the outside on occasional visits, they were Often better posted than those who had much Of their time taken up with social and business routine Of civilization....
