Fastpencil Inc, United States, 2011. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This book is a framework for your successful Christian job search. All the detailed tools are not provided here, but there is a mental, spiritual, emotional, physical, and financial framework that will provide a platform that has order and the infrastructure for your successful journey towards your destiny. This book came out of my own experience of walking through a time of not working and being able to focus full time on this journey and learn fairly soon what worked and what didn't work. Any potential job seeker will not have to go through that learning curve if they apply as needed the points outlined in this book. Barbara Roberts is a project management professional that lives in Southeastern Michigan, in the Detroit Metro region. Barbara, an experienced project management professional, has had a career full of many assignments all over the country that have allowed her to hone her job finding skills in a way that has given her unique insights into what it takes to successfully transition from one assignment to another. Barbara's extensive job finding experiences have provided subtle insights assuring consistent success in the most resistant economic cycles.
