JUST CAUSE, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .We live in an era in which humankind is having a devastating impact on the planet and its environmental systems. The signs are everywhere: between 1970 and 2012 the number of animals living on the planet declined by almost 60%; the world's coral reefs are bleaching; the malaria-bearing mosquito is appearing in places it was previously unknown; and Pacific islands are submerging beneath rising seas. Centuries of misplaced Christian thinking about creation have left us ill-prepared for this era. In this short book and accompanying bible study guide you have the opportunity to reframe your thinking about creation in the light of Scripture and to discover afresh how to live as a caretaker of God's good earth. Chapter 1 asks about God's purpose for creating the world. Over against traditional notions that everything was created for the benefit of humankind, a more careful reading of the creation story shows that the world was created as the temple of God. This gives the earth and its living creatures value independent of their benefit to humankind and calls for us to respect the world as the place of God's presence, and the living creatures of the earth as a source of God's joy and all life as the object of God's love. Chapter 2 explores God's purpose in creating humankind. We ask what it means to be created in God's image and to rule over the animals and subdue the earth. Over against traditional notions that these verses picture humankind as the master of creation, bending it to our will, we argue that in the biblical framework to rule is to serve. This means God created...
