In olden time when minstrels sang; They reeked not of the world's applause; In honest warmth their wild notes rang Unfettered by the critics laws. They wrote not for an empty name - They wrote not for a passing fame - Nor dared to prostitute the muse, To base and mercenary views. But only sang the truths God taught. What time they roamed the realms of thought; And when the world arose with might To crush them in unequal fight: They cared not so a lady's eye, Beamed kindly on their poesy. Their flag, the loud-tongued mass above. They dauntlessly unfurled: Their own great hearts - their lady's love - These were the Poet's world! Star of my soul! In modern times, If I awake my humbler rhymes: And echo o'er the peaceful plains, My free - my honest-hearted strains: It is not that the jabbering crowd. That talks so falsely and so loud, Is pleasing music to mine ear,...
